

Figure 1: EIS-S, the intersection of EBM, ICM, systematic planning, and MSP. The size of the ovals represents the breadth of the concept. For example, integrated planning is a broad concept that may or may not be systematic, and could be spatial or non-spatial; but it is not as expansive as EBM.

From "Marine Planning: Tragedy of the Acronyms", by Jeff Ardron. Published in Marine Ecosystems and Management (MEAM), Volume 4, Issue 2, October-November 2010. <http://depts.washington.edu/meam/MEAM15.pdf>